Program Description

Enrichment Opportunities Institute of Training, Inc. offers quality, reliable work-related assessments that provide information needed to match the individuals' abilities required by the individual to make the transition to work as smooth and as successful as possible.

The primary purpose of our vocational assessment program is to gather employability-related information about an individual. This will assist and empower that individual in making decisions regarding work and the training or services needed by the individual in order to gain employment. The benefits of gathering and using this information are career awareness and exploration, improved self-awareness and motivation, the development of a vocational profile, and the identification of short and long-term career goals that are realistic. These goals are more realistic because they are based upon who the person is as an individual and what he or she is capable of doing and is interested in doing.

EOIT will:

- Clarify the desired outcome with the referring agency
- Inform the individual of the process
- Identify the individual's current work status
- Determine whether the person is prepared to consider different work options

- Explore the person's work and life experience through interviews and background information
- Assess the individual's work skills, knowledge, aptitude and preferences

After the assessment, EOIT will:

- Match the individual's work profile with the work environment by considering job requirements and rewards, job market, training and education requirements.
- Identify other resources that may be required to improve the job match and prepare for work, i.e. training (formal and informal), or further assessment
- Communicate assessment findings and recommendations to all relevant stakeholders.

EOIT will utilize the following Assessment Instruments:

1. Peabody Individual Achievement Test
2. Wide Range Achievement Test
3. Career Occupational Preference System (COPS)
4. Career Orientation and Placement Evaluation Survey (COPES)
5. Self Directed Search (SDS)
6. Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI)
7. Vocational Learning Styles Inventory
8. Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT)
9. Oral Interview Assessment
